Land and production teams are seeing improvement with fully digitized, extracted, structured, and centralized data. Here's how it's changing how they work:

1

Document management

Quick, easy access to contracts, leases, deeds, etc., and integration with lease management systems

2

Communication & collaboration

With documents centralized and structured, information can be easily shared across teams and departments.

ACCESS

IN THE WILD WEST

3

Remote work

Information is available from remote and field locations, like while on the road, as well as in the office

4

Acquisition file reconciliation

With a centralized system and process, when properties are acquired, new properties are seamlessly integrated with existing lease files.
